

MSNO Bio

Marette Power, BSN, RN, NCSN, received her BSN from the University of Pennsylvania in 1986. Marette worked in Neonatal and Pediatric ICU at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and later at Boston Children's Hospital for the majority of the first 25 years of her career. During that time, Marette earned RNC and CCRN credentials, was a PALS and NRP instructor and worked as an ECMO specialist at CHOP.

In 2010, while at BCH, Marette participated in a year long LEND fellowship (Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Related Disabilities). In 2014, Marette accepted a position as the Lead School Nurse for the Cape Cod Collaborative. She obtained her school nurse national certification and DESE licensure in just over 5 years.

Marette joined the MSNO board in 2019 where she has been the co-chair for the Cape and Islands. Marette lives on Cape Cod, is married with 2 adult children. Her eldest son has severe non-verbal autism. Marette has extensive experience both professionally and personally advocating for supports and resources for people with neurodevelopmental differences. In her off time, she loves to read, cook and garden.
